Christine E. Sammer, DrPH, RN, FACHE
Director of Quality and Patient Safety
Office of Clinical Effectiveness, Adventist Health System

Christine Sammer is a director in the Office of Clinical Effectiveness for Adventist Health System. She is responsible for leadership and support to system-wide facilities in the areas of healthcare quality and patient safety agendas—specifically leading innovative quality and safety redesign initiatives, sharing best practices and outcomes through publication and presentations, and providing system-wide education and training. Her passion is to assure a healthcare delivery system in which no patient is harmed.

Christine is a Registered Nurse. She earned masters and doctoral degrees in public health management and policy from the University of North Texas Health Science Center. She is a member of the nursing honor society, Sigma Theta Tau and is a fellow in the American College of Healthcare Executives. She has published several articles in peer-reviewed journals.
