Jennifer Stemmler

Jennifer Stemmler, Director of Clinical Information Systems, Ambulatory for Adventist Health assumed her current position in 2013. In this role, she leads information technology teams in the Ambulatory space to implement, support and optimize Cerner’s EHR in Adventist Health clinics throughout the multiple regions served in partnership with the business operations team.

Jennifer has over 16 years of healthcare information technology experience, most recently in software organizations, such as McKesson Corporation and Cedaron Medical leading implementations and operations teams in large healthcare systems throughout the United States and also in Europe. During her tenure, Jennifer implemented innovative training approaches in the deployment of software in outpatient offices, as well as development of process documentation to sustain operations following implementations.